Inaugural PRCA Wild West show a sellout at fairgrounds

BY BOB DEMAREE

Madison's inaugural Wild West Rodeo Show was held last weekend with strong attendance on both nights at the Jefferson County 4-H Fairgrounds.

"It absolutely exceeded our expectations," said Tayler Rinehart, who organized the rodeo along with her mother, Ellie Troutman. "We are so thrilled."

The rodeo show was sold out both nights with Rinehart estimating roughly 5,000 in attendance per night.

The Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association (PRCA) rodeo featured riders competing in bareback, saddle bronc and bull riding in one of their final opportunities to earn money and points toward qualifying for the National Finals Rodeo to be held in Las Vegas.

Cole Reiner of Buffalo, Wyoming, was the winner in bareback riding with 88 points on Three Hill Rodeo's Tarnished Silver.

Kole Ashbacher of Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada, was the winner in saddle bronc riding with 86 points on Three Hills Rodeo's No. R8.

Reid Oftedahl of Raymond, Minnesota, was the winner in bull riding with 84 points on Three Hill Rodeo's No. 81.

Rinehart's husband, Mike Solberg was among the competitor. He placed fourth overall in bareback riding. In final round competition on Saturday, Solberg won over Tristan Hansen of Dillon, Montana.

Ashley Ketron of Columbus, Indiana, was the winner in barrel racing followed by Dusta Kimzey-O'Connell of Strong City, Oklahoma in second. Morgan Nay, of Madison, Indiana, placed third with Lexy Petro of New Palestine, Indiana, fourth and Brittany Hostetler, of Commiskey, Indiana, taking fifth.

The event also include rodeo clowns and trick riding.

Next year's rodeo will be the weekend of Sept. 22-23 with potentially more days and events during that week.

Tour of Homes to feature 7 sites this weekend

BY BOB DEMAREE

Tri Kappa's Tour of Homes is back this weekend, and for the first time in many years Tri Kappa will be staging the Tour for the second year in a row, making up for the cancellation in 2020 because of COVID-19.

The Tour of Homes is typically held every other year in even years. The Tour was held in 2021 coming out of COVID and then again this year to get back on schedule.

Scheduled for Friday through Sunday, the Tour will feature seven sites including a property owned by Historic Madison Inc.

"There are some amazing homes," said Nadja Boone, co-chair of the tour along with Kelli Hertz.

"These homes have such cool histories and stories," said Kate Sutter, Tri Kappa's vice president and a member of the tour selection and publicity committees.

One of the most intriguing stories comes from Plass Place, 309 Elm St. owned by Sallie and Richard Plass, site of a murder mystery that was never solved. Owner Henry Armstrong died in 1872 in a murder that drew the attention of newspapers in Indianapolis and Fort Wayne publishing detailed accounts. The home is one half of a historical

Madison's Music Man

"I call this upcoming concert an alumni show," explains Aaron Kelsey, art teacher, theater director and head of the Madison Fine Arts Academy at Madison Consolidated High School. "That's because all the players are MCHS grads who've gone on to become excellent musicians and performers."

CHARLIE ROHLFING
CHARLIE'S BEAT

The concert will be at 7 p.m. on Oct. 8, at the Opal E. Sherman Auditorium at the high school. The featured players are Andrea Davidson, The Slick River Rockets (Brook Reindollar, Chip Binzer and Eric Phagan), and the duo Vaguely Familiar (Zach Hackney and Chris Webster).

"The concert is a fundraiser for the Fine Arts Academy, and we'll use any money we raise for enrichment activities for our students, things like Louisville Orchestra concerts and other experiences. We had a puppeteer come in one time and give a whole demonstration of the craft.

"This musical concert is just the latest alumni event we've featured in the series. We had Abby Walburn come back fraom London to talk about acting. We had Luke Fisher, a filmmaker out in LA, share his experiences. Bill Borden, who spent a career as a car designer at Ford and is now an accomplished watercolorist, joined us. And Andrea did a songwriting workshop a while back.

"The other thing I'm excited about is getting to show off and share the recently upgraded Sherman Auditorium. There's the beautiful new lobby area, and so much more behind the scenes, like new dressing rooms, and state of the art lighting.

"When I came here 21 years ago things were pretty primitive as far as dressing rooms and wardrobe and prop storage. Basically non-existent. It's quite luxurious now, by comparison. And I think it shows in our productions and in student participation. This year about 100 students are involved in theater, out of total school enrollment of about 975. That's pretty amazing, I think.

Madison Theatre to present 'Murder'

BY BOB DEMAREE

Madison Theatre will perform Agatha Christie's "Murder on the Orient Express" this weekend at Madison Consolidated High School's Sherman Auditorium.

The murder mystery provides for story twists and intrigue among a train full of passengers on the luxurious Orient Express.

"When an unlikely group of people from all over the world show up on this lovely train in the middle of winter along with a nice detective Mr. Hercule Poirot, all is good and well until one passenger dies mysteriously," said Jack Heckler, who shares the role of Poirot with Saba Chabukashvili.

The passenger, an American tycoon, was found in his compartment stabbed eight times. With all the other passengers isolated on the train, they know there is a killer in their midst, and rely on Poirot to identify the murderer.

"It's a big ol' who done it" with romance, revenge. There's everything," said Heckler.

And because it's a mystery, Heckler said that every character's role and every line is important for the audience to solve the case as they watch the play. "At the end of the show there's a classic big unveiling of 'who done it' by the detective."

Kiarra Bauer, who plays Ratchett, said, "You can literally solve it with us" by paying close attention. "You have to dissect every single scene, how it plays, and then once you finally get it, you are thinking how did I not get this sooner."

"It's like chess. Everybody has a piece on the board that's important," said Reilly Kuppler, who plays Michel the Conductor.

Another aspect of the production is that makes it challenging is that almost every character must perform an accent since the passengers come from different countries, with Heckler citing characters from Sweden, Russia, Hungary, Belgium, France and a couple of Americans. "Even the Americans must change their voice a little bit," he noted.

Izabela Jett, who plays Helen Hubbard, said another challenge to the play requires actors to "use facial expressions a lot. There are parts in the show when characters are getting questions from the detectives and you have to make certain eye movements or use body language."

Since the murderer has to be someone on the train,

Madison man facing sexual battery charge

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Madison Police arrested a 75-year-old local man on a felony sexual battery charge after an investigation into alleged inappropriate touching of a 29-year-old disabled female.

Kenneth W. Surrett

Kenneth W. Surrett, 75, of the 1000 block of Park Ave., Madison, was arrested Friday for Sexual Battery, a Level 6 felony, and lodged in the Jefferson County Jail on a $10,000 cash bond.

"The arrest stems from an investigation where a family member found inappropriate communications on social media directed to a 29-year-old disabled female. During the investigation, the victim reported unwanted and inappropriate touching by the suspect," a news release by Madison Police said.

The case was investigated by MPD Det. Ricky Harris, and turned over to the Jefferson County Prosecutor's Office upon completion. A warrant was then obtained for Surrett's arrest.

Surrent was arraigned on Tuesday and released on his own recognizance with pretrial release conditions that include electronic monitoring and no contact with the victim.

TODAY IN HISTORY

TODAY'S HIGHLIGHT IN HISTORY:

On Sept. 29, 1938, British, French, German and Italian leaders concluded the Munich Agreement, which was aimed at appeasing Adolf Hitler by allowing Nazi annexation of Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland.

ON THIS DATE:

In 1789, the U.S. War Department established a regular army with a strength of several hundred men.

In 1829, London's reorganized police force, which became known as Scotland Yard, went on duty.

In 1943, General Dwight D. Eisenhower and Italian Marshal Pietro Badoglio signed an armistice aboard the British ship HMS Nelson off Malta.

In 1962, Canada joined the space age as it launched the Alouette 1 satellite from Vandenberg Air Force Base in California. The musical "My Fair Lady" closed on Broadway after 2,717 performances.

In 1965, President Lyndon Johnson signed the National Foundation on the Arts and the Humanities Act of 1965, creating the National Endowment for the Humanities and the National Endowment for the Arts.

In 1978, Pope John Paul I was found dead in his Vatican apartment just over a month after becoming head of the Roman Catholic Church.

In 1982, Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules laced with deadly cyanide claimed the first of seven victims in the Chicago area. (To date, the case remains unsolved.)

In 1986, the Soviet Union released Nicholas Daniloff, an American journalist confined on spying charges.

In 1989, actor Zsa Zsa Gabor was convicted of battery for slapping Beverly Hills police officer Paul Kramer after he'd pulled over her Rolls-Royce for expired license plates. (As part of her sentence, Gabor ended up serving three days in jail.)

In 2000, Israeli riot police stormed a major Jerusalem shrine and opened fire on stone-throwing Muslim worshippers, killing four Palestinians and wounding 175.

In 2005, John G. Roberts Jr. was sworn in as the nation's 17th chief justice after winning Senate confirmation.

In 2020, the first debate between President Donald Trump and Democrat Joe Biden deteriorated into bitter taunts and near chaos, as Trump repeatedly interrupted his opponent with angry and personal jabs and the two men talked over each other. Trump refused to condemn white supremacists who had supported him, telling one such group known as Proud Boys to "stand back, stand by."

Ten years ago: Omar Khadr, the last Western detainee held at the U.S. military prison in Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, returned to Canada after a decade in custody. Former New York Times publisher Arthur Ochs Sulzberger died at the age of 86.

Five years ago: Tom Price resigned as President Donald Trump's secretary of Health and Human Services amid investigations into his use of costly charter flights for official travel at taxpayer expense. The United States warned Americans to stay away from Cuba, and ordered home more than half of the American diplomatic corps there; the administration began referring to the mysterious health ailments affecting Americans there as "attacks" rather than "incidents" but acknowledged that neither Cuban nor US investigators could figure out who or what was responsible. San Juan Mayor Carmen Yulin Cruz accused the Trump administration of "killing us with the inefficiency" after Hurricane Maria.

One year ago: In a major victory for pop star Britney Spears, a judge in Los Angeles suspended the singer's father from the conservatorship that had controlled her life and money for 13 years, saying the arrangement reflected a "toxic environment." (The judge would end the conservatorship weeks later.) Five-time Olympic swimming medalist Klete Keller pleaded guilty to a felony charge for storming the U.S. Capitol during the Jan. 6 riot. Former Japanese Foreign Minister Fumio Kishida won Japan's governing party's leadership election, putting him in line to become the country's next prime minister.

TOUR

duplex that was owned by brothers Henry and George Armstrong with a connecting archway. Sutter noted the archway is now "patched up but you can still see where it used to be" by the exposed brick used to fill it.

The Schussler House, 514 Jefferson St. owned by Greg Stewart and Michael Zink, is a step back in time. An example of a federal home designed by Frances Costigan, the home underwent extensive rehabilitation in 2018 and is filled with period antiques and more than 100 original oil paintings. Boone said Stewart will dress like Dr. Charles Schussler. "That house is incredible. It's almost museum-like," noted Sutter.

Other homes on the tour are 736 West Main Street, owned by Lisa and John Gray; 415 East Third Street, owned by Stew and Kim Hizey; 521 East Main Street, owned by Stephen and Donna Graham; and 210 West Second Street, owned by John and Linda DeLuca. Also on the tour will be the Talbott-Hyatt House, 301 West Second Street owned by Historic Madison Inc., continuing the tradition of HMI including one of its properties on each tour. Since 2021, the house has served as home to HMI offices.

Tri Kappa Tour of Homes is hosted by Madison's active chapter, Beta Omega, now in its 101st year with 40 members. Boone said approximately 230 volunteers assist with the tour.

All proceeds from the tour go to scholarships and local charities under Tri Kappa's mission of charity, culture and education.

"I think what's unique about our event is that we involve the community in this event, we're teaching others about the history of our community and then we take these proceeds and put them back into the community in the form of grants and scholarships," said Sutter.

Tours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Friday and Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. on Sunday. Tickets are $20 for adults and $8 for children and can be picked up or purchased at the tour headquarters at Madison Presbyterian Church, 202 Broadway Street, beginning at 9:30 a.m. on Friday and Saturday, and 11:30 a.m. on Sunday.

week for battery and disorderly conduct at the Kroger on Madison's hilltop.

Witnesses and store officials told police that Todd Bruseau, 46, Columbus, Ohio, became upset with store employees when they are unable to summon a cab for him on Wednesday, Sept. 21, then became destructive and eventually turned his anger toward employees at the store, located at 525 Clifty Drive.

Todd Bruseau

A female employee was allegedly assaulted by Bruseau and required medical treatment for a head injury at the Norton's King's Daughters' Health Emergency Room.

Bruseau was transported to the Jefferson County Jail where he was held without bond pending an initial hearing. At that hearing on Friday, he was charged with Battery Resulting in Moderate Bodily Injury, two counts, both Level 6 felonies; and Disorderly Conduct-Fighting and Criminal Mischief, both Class A misdemeanors. He remains incarcerated without bond.

Madison Police Officer Seth Melton led the investigation with the assistance of Officer Jordan Perry.

MUSIC

"I look at theater, especially the musicals, as a kind of amalgamation of all the arts into one performance. You have acting, of course. You have singing and sometimes instrumental music. You have painting and sculpting in the various set and prop designs. Oh, and lighting design is a big component, that's a very creative discipline.

"Since I've been here at Madison we have done 67 productions, and I'm quite proud to say not a single one has been a repeat! It keeps it fresh for the community who comes to see our shows, and of course, it keeps it interesting and challenging for me, as the director not to repeat. I think it's important.

"As a matter of fact, our latest theater production, Agatha Christie's famous 'Murder on the Orient Express', is this weekend, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. If people want to buy tickets or check out the show times, they should go to MadisonTheatreIn.com."

As a final note, talking to Mr. Kelsey and thinking about Madison high school musicals, it brought to mind one of our brightest young theater talents who gave his life in service of our country back in 2008. Specialist Jonathan Daniel "Jon" Menke, age 22.

Jon went out for the part of Gaston in Beauty & The Beast his senior year in high school. He did it somewhat on a lark, never really having acted or sung before. And he stole the show! Turns out he was a natural.

He had the looks. He had the charisma. And he could really sing! In fact, he told his friends that after his service in the military he was thinking about studying theater and making it his career.

Alas, a roadside bomb in Iraq put an end to that dream. But those of us who fondly remember Jon can still dream and imagine the shining star he would have most assuredly become. We miss you Jon.

Hot Tip of the Week

If you like a foot-stomping good time, tonight (Thursday) Mike & The Moonpies at Red Bicycle Hall is a show you won't want to miss. Just one look at this band's upcoming touring schedule (Kentucky, Louisiana, Georgia, Alabama, North Carolina, Missouri and Arkansas) and you know they are a super popular band with a huge following. We're lucky to get them in Madison, for sure. The other show that jumps out at me is the Bluebird Alley Band playing the final Live Lunch of the season at Lytle Park on Friday at 11:30 a.m. This band punches way above their weight, and the show is free, so you got nothing to lose. We'll see if we can get them to do their soaring version of "The Immigrant Song" by Led Zep!

Switzerland blanks Southwestern 3-0 in a battle of ranked teams

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Class A No. 5 Switzerland County struck early on offense and maintained a clean sheet on defense to pick up a 3-0 win over 12th-ranked Southwestern in a battle of ranked boys soccer teams Tuesday in Vevay.

The Pacers got two goals from Cooper Todd and another goal by Jacob Williams to seize a 3-0 lead by halftime. Levi Curlin and Ashton Purvis each had assists.

That lead was more than enough for Switzerland's stout defense, which posted its school-record ninth shutout of the season. Keeper Aiden Furnish had six saves on the night.

Switzerland, now 15-0 overall and 11-0 in the Ohio River Valley Conference, will try to cap off a perfect regular season when it hosts No. 20 Shawe on Thursday. The Pacers will then take aim at their first-ever sectional title next week when the Class A Sectional opens at Jac-Cen-Del in Osgood. Switzerland will play host Jac-Cen-Del in the opener on Tuesday at 5 p.m.

Southwestern, now 8-4-2 overall and 6-3-1 ORVC, hosts Jac-Cen-Del today and closes out the regular season at Rising Sun on Friday. The Pacers then open the sectional at Jac-Cen-Del on Monday against Milan.

Switzerland County's Mason Peelman (20) and Southwestern's Connor Johnson (7) battle for the ball during Tuesday's Ohio River Valley Conference matchup in Vevay. The fifth-ranked Pacers won 3-0 to remain unbeaten on the season. Only a match on Thursday night with Shawe Memorial in Vevay stands between the Pacers (15-0, 11-0 ORVC) and a perfect regular season.

SHAWE EDGES JCD

Class A No. 20 Shawe picked up a 3-2 soccer win at Jac-Cen-Del on Monday.

Oswaldo Reyes-Miranda, Miguel Morales-Vazquez and Davis Grote each scored goals for the Hilltoppers while Jacob Hertz and Eric Liu had assists.

Shawe, now 12-2-1 overall and 7-2-1 ORVC, hosted Milan on Wednesday and closes out the regular season at Class A No. 5 Switzerland County today. The Hilltoppers then face the Southwestern-Milan winner in the semifinals of the Class A Sectional at Jac-Cen-Del next Wednesday.

MADISON DRAWS PIONEERS, 1-1

Madison battled Class 2A No. 13 and defending state runner-up Providence to a 1-1 draw in boys soccer Tuesday at home.

Ramon Alvarado Paz scored the Cubs' lone goal on the night, off an assist from Adriano Martinez. Clint Hearne had 14 saves in goal.

Short-handed Cubs no match for Jennings in 3-set sweep

BY THE COURIER STAFF

A short-handed Madison team was no match for Jennings County, falling in three sets at home in volleyball on Tuesday.

The Cubs were without setter Hannah Dart and freshman Audrey Miller stepped into the role. But Madison could get little going, falling 25-15, 25-11, 25-19.

"We worked really hard. Audrey Miller did great stepping in on varsity tonight when she was needed," Madison coach Camille Crim said.

Chloe Preocanin was 10-for-11 serving with two aces, five kills and 11 digs for the Cubs, Lexi Sullivan was 10-for-10 serving with four digs, Kallie Eder was 6-for-6 serving with five kills and three digs, and Miller had 13 assists and 13 digs.

On Monday, Madison dropped a 25-22, 25-22, 25-19 decision at Lawrenceburg.

Preocanin was 11-for-12 serving with 12 kills and 12 digs, Eder was 8-for-9 serving with an ace, 10 kills and 17 digs, Lilly Canida was 12-for-13 serving with an ace and six kills, Claire Slygh was 12-for-12 serving with seven digs, Lexi Sullivan was 1-for-11 serving with an ace, and Hannah Dart had 21 assists and 10 digs.

The Hilltoppers won 25-13, 25-13, 26-24.

Emmaline Leatherman had 18 kills, was 4-for-4 serving and had seven digs for the Hilltoppers, Lauren Grote was 20-for-22 serving with two aces and 10 digs, Harlee Hill was 13-for-14 serving with four aces, nine kills, eight digs and eight assists, Payton Lock was 14-for-14 serving with three aces, Allison Knoebel was 12-for-12 serving with three aces, 18 assists and seven digs, Kelly McClure was 7-for-7 serving, Ava Turner had six kills and Autumn Lathrem had four kills.

REBELS FALL TO MUSTANGS

Southwestern lost a hard-fought five-set match at New Washington in volleyball on Tuesday.

The Rebels dropped the opener 25-16 but won the next two sets, 25-18 and 25-10. But Southwestern couldn't sustain that momentum and New Washington claimed wins by scores of 25-16 and 15-12 in the final two sets for the victory.

"We started off playing pretty poorly in the first set. I thought we had really turned things around in the second and third sets but then we dug ourselves a big hole at the start of the fourth because of some hitting errors," Southwestern coach Chris Johnson said. "We never really regained our aggressiveness after that. The fifth set looked better but we could not score and gave New Washington too many chances."

Emma Long had eight kills on 36-for-39 hitting for the Rebels while Rorie Scroggins had seven kills on 24-for-25 hitting, Jenna Owens had four kills and five aces on 19-for-20 serving, Breona Brewer was 12-for-12 serving with two aces and 27 assists, and Parker Mefford was 9-for-11 serving with two aces and went 30-for-30 passing with 29 digs.

Southwestern, now 11-14 on the season, travels to South Ripley today and hosts Switzerland County next Tuesday.

HANOVER BEATS ASBURY

Hanover College volleyball picked up its third consecutive win with a four-set victory at home over Asbury on Tuesday.

The Panthers lost the first set 25-23 but roared back to win the next three 25-14, 25-15, 25-19.

Elly Koop had 11 blocks for Hanover while Casey Dunn had 25 digs, Molly Schwarzkopf had eight blocks and Maggie Schweitzer had 21 assists.

NCAA puts Memphis on probation with no tournament ban

BY TERESA M. WALKER
ASSOCIATED PRESS

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — The NCAA put Memphis on three years of probation with a public reprimand and a fine Tuesday, but declined to punish Tigers coach Penny Hardaway or hand down an NCAA Tournament ban.

The NCAA had accused Memphis of four Level I and two Level II violations, considered the most serious infractions, and a total of seven alleged violations including lack of institutional control, head coach responsibility and failure to monitor.

The Independent Accountability Review Panel put the blame on Memphis failing to monitor Hardaway as an athletics booster or educate him better after hiring him as the Tigers' men's basketball coach. The panel also ruled Memphis provided impermissible benefits of meals to athletes and publicity benefits to recruits.

The panel also ruled Memphis failed to cooperate with the investigation by delaying handing over requested documents but decided these were Level II and III violations.

"There would have been no difficulty with with this panel arriving at that conclusion if they had been satisfied that the evidence demonstrated that there was conduct that reached the Level I," IARP administrative officer Hugh Fraser said in a news conference. "But in this case, we did not find that."

Memphis will be fined $5,000 plus 0.25% of its average men's basketball budget — based on the average of the program's last three total budgets. Probation starts Tuesday and runs to Sept. 26, 2025. Memphis also must send at least

Turner begins season with Pacers amid trade talk

INDIANAPOLIS — Myles Turner looks around the Indiana Pacers locker room and sees the changes.

After eight years in town, the 26-year-old is the longest-tenured and most accomplished Pacers player. The guys who mentored him as a rookie have all moved on and many are out of the league.

And as Turner enters the final year of his contract, he knows the constant rumors about his future suggest he will soon be traded.

Until then, Turner promises to ignore the distractions and focus on what he does best — playing basketball.

"My job is to come in here and help these young guys out," he said Monday during the team's media day. "That's where all my intention lies. As long as I'm in this uniform, I'm going to go out there and represent the state how I'm supposed to represented and represent my team in the same manner."

UK moves Blue-White to Pikeville for flood relief

LEXINGTON, Ky. — Kentucky will play its annual Blue-White men's basketball scrimmage in eastern Kentucky to benefit victims of the devastating summer floods.

The school announced that the Oct. 22 event at Appalachian Wireless Arena in Pikeville will feature a pregame Fan Fest.

Ticket proceeds will go through Team Eastern Kentucky Flood Relief.

Wildcat players will also participate in a community service activity with local organizations in the relief effort.

Kentucky coach John Calipari said the team was excited to play for eastern Kentucky fans and added, "We hope we can provide a temporary escape with basketball and community engagement."

one member of its Office of Legal Counsel to two NCAA Regional Rules Seminars and inform all prospect men's basketball recruits in writing that the Tigers are on probation.

Fraser said the panel did not want to punish current Memphis athletes.

"We respect and will fully comply with the IARP's decision," said Memphis president Bill Hardgrave, who was hired in November 2021.

The lack of a tournament ban or suspension for Hardaway is key for a program that just ended a long NCAA Tournament drought in March with its first berth since 2014. Hardaway said in a statement that brighter days are ahead and thanked the IARP for making its decision based on the facts.

"We have finally arrived at the end of an extremely challenging period, and I could not be more grateful," Hardaway said. "I would like to thank our players and their families, as well as our coaches and our support staff, for continuing to focus on what we could control as this process lingered."

The NCAA investigation started in May 2019 and continued into February 2021, with an amended notice of allegations sent to Memphis in July 2021. Fraser noted the pandemic was a contributing factor slowing down the investigation.

The probe began over the recruitment and the short time that James Wiseman spent at Memphis after receiving $11,500 from Hardaway in 2017. That's when Hardaway was coach at East High School in Memphis. He wasn't hired as Memphis' coach until March 2018, and Wiseman committed to the Tigers in November 2018. The NCAA originally ruled the money wasn't allowed because Hardaway was a booster for the program. The former NBA All-Star gave $1 million in 2008 to his alma mater for the university's sports hall of fame named for Hardaway. The IARP noted Hardaway had been helping people in Memphis since first going to the NBA in 1993.

Wiseman played the first game of the 2019-20 season before the NCAA ruled Wiseman ineligible. He played two more games after filing a restraining order against the NCAA.

The IARP says Memphis was informed Oct. 31 that Wiseman and two other athletes were not eligible because they received money from Hardaway after he became a booster. The IARP said Hardaway wasn't told until after the opening game Nov. 5.

The IARP also wants Memphis to vacate all wins and records of the three games Wiseman played with those reflected in Hardaway's career records.

The lack of a tournament ban or suspension for Hardaway is key for a program that just ended a long NCAA Tournament drought in March with its first berth since 2014. Hardaway said in a statement that brighter days are ahead and thanked the IARP for making its decision based on the facts.

Mom's financial infusion harms her

AMY DICKINSON
ASK AMY

Dear Amy: I am the mom of three "adult" sons. One of them, who will be 21 soon, chose to move out a little over a year ago, with no plan and no place to live. He has bounced between friends' houses, a short stay at his brother's house, and with a family he met at a church he joined. I'm not sure where he's living now.

I have given him a lot of money over the past 14 months, and I mean a LOT!

I put myself in a terrible financial situation (didn't pay credit card bills for months, cashed in the tiny amount of retirement savings I had, etc.).

I did this to help him, only to learn (by his admission) that he lied to me about many things, including what the money was for, having a job, and letting other people text me from his phone asking for money as if they were him, etc.

There was a brief pause in him asking for money for about six weeks when he was living with a family from his church and working.

Now he's back to asking for money almost every day.

I promised myself that I would not help him again but I can't stand the thought of him being without food or a place to stay.

I need your help to figure out how to say no to him without feeling tremendous guilt and constant worry.

— Newly Poor Mom

Dear Poor: You know that you should not give your son money, and so the next time he asks, you should offer to meet him in person in order to share a meal with him or give him food.

If he is involved with a church community, you could reach out to the leadership to thank them for how they've assisted him in the past, and ask what resources might be available to him now.

Do NOT give him cash — ever. Your practice of doing this has impoverished you and might have contributed to his problems.

Rock star retirement has pyrotechnic potential

AMY DICKINSON
ASK AMY

Dear Amy: A few years ago, I started a rock band with some very talented musicians.

We play for fun (not for money), and we've played before some very large crowds.

We have a very big gig in a couple of months and, because my heart's not in it anymore and I've lived my "rock star" dream, I know that it will be our last.

Should I tell the band before the gig that it's our last gig, or should I wait until after the gig? I see pros and cons to both. — Rock Retiree

Dear Rock Retiree: I shared your dilemma with my friend, the comedy writer and musician Adam Felber, co-host of the fun podcast "Dad Band Land."

Adam and his co-hosts play in a neighborhood cover band.

He responds: "Announcing your retirement depends on what instrument you play. If you're a guitarist, I wouldn't worry about it, because there are a lot of you and it's entirely likely your replacement will randomly wander into the garage while you're telling the band you're retiring.

"If you're a keyboardist like me, don't worry, either, because it could be several months before they notice you're gone.

"But if you're the drummer, well, how dare you abandon them!?

"But seriously, unless you're the front man, and there's absolutely no way the band can continue without you, I'd wait until a few days after the gig and then tell them you need to take a break for a while.

"Telling them beforehand may have some upside for you, but not for the rest of the band. There's no reason to add that to the vibe — this is your last gig, not The Last Waltz!"

Adam's podcast cohost and fellow musician Kevin Burke also took his own sardonic solo: "If you really want this to be a true 'rock star' moment, wait until right before the very last song, then make a big 'quitting' announcement over the mic to the audience and the band at exactly the same time."

"Bonus points if you can disappear in a puff of smoke or giant pillar of fire when the last song ends.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Your heart is in the right place but sometimes your words cannot follow. Meet challenging communications and other mix-ups with understanding. Too many distractions can interfere with the completion of your required tasks.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Discretion makes for good friendships. Though it might be difficult to cut through the fog and overcome misunderstandings before they occur, you might find the right words or helpful insights to solve a problem.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — You must see a door before you can knock on it. In your eagerness to be part of the crowd, you might anticipate an opportunity. If you have your heart set on material success, stick to a plan that is already in motion.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Never give up. Your good intentions or thoughtfulness may be misunderstood but that is not a good reason to quit. Straightforward facts can be the best tool to use to achieve success and gain someone's trust.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — You can turn on the charm at a critical moment. The emotional clarity needed for an impartial business transaction may clash with your sympathy and compassion. Do not act on impulse with money or decision-making.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Do not sign a contract that involves your money or partnership terms because there is a possibility that a misunderstanding can occur. Your best bet is to wait. Flirtations or decisions might not be in your best interests.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Stellar influences may make you may feel an increased desire to be more attractive and get out there and socialize. It's fine to get prepared and make a plan but wait another day or two to approach a new friend or acquaintance.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — If you consistently water flowers, they should eventually outshine the weeds. Choose to focus on beauty and harmony rather than unpleasantness to create a more satisfying outcome. Be discriminating about your companions.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Remind yourself of what it took to earn your money and you should be able to be more cautious about expenditures. An investment or large purchase could become the subject of a disagreement with a partner or loved one.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Wait a few more days and you may enjoy a pleasant surprise. Once you recognize your desires, you should find someone who is willing to discuss ways to create lasting happiness. Don't make promises today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — A partner or loved one may be just as concerned about financial security as you. There might be too many demands on shared resources now. Do not panic because things should be clearer once you get finances organized.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Someone may need extra support now. Even the best plans on paper can fail when put into action unless you start by separating facts from fantasy. Get advice from a trusted mentor before signing contracts.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Too much of a good thing may simply be too much. Your closest friends might encourage your recklessness so restrain your desire for adventurous outings and avoid making extravagant purchases or promises.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — When you squeeze something too tightly you can crush it, and not in a good way. Don't insist on having what you want, exactly when you want it. Take your time and don't rush headlong into a relationship or a decision right now.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Compliments and proposals must be taken with a grain of salt; you may not hear everything that is said clearly. The effort expended in being thoughtful and well-mannered can put you in the good graces of loved ones.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Only time will tell if you are on chasing rainbows or on the right track. Avoid making major changes or decisions because there may be a tendency to go overboard. Steer clear of arguments with family members.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — You don't need a prescription pad to make someone feel better. You can't promise a cure but might offer a sympathetic shoulder. Put key decisions and new commitments on the back burner until the timing is better.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — You may be confused about how to best use new and profitable strategies, even though you may be riveted on finding projects you can monetize. It is best to wait a few days before making key financial decisions or investments.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Good taste can triumph if you wait for better timing to make a choice. When choosing household treasures, your thoughts about how to get something beautiful and practical might vary between extravagance or bargain hunting.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Give yourself better odds, there is not much that will thrive in a desert. You can plant good ideas but if the soil is poor, the project may wither. Take your time and remain patient until you find more fertile ground.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — You may think the force is with you, but you could be fooling yourself. You might clash with a family member or feel that someone is playing on your sympathies. Wait out any brief period of miscommunications.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Take it a step at a time. You may meet someone who intrigues your mind with the potential to become a close friend, but you should take time to thoroughly test the waters. Any discontent and restlessness should pass quickly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Keep busy doing something constructive so you won't be tempted toward something not in your best interest. Ignore an impulse to invest in something new. Don't make credit purchases or sign a financial contract today.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Showing people your sympathy and compassion should help to keep disputes at arm's length. You could break the budget with expensive purchases if you try to go forward with what you envision without careful thought.

Bengals reverse fortunes in 1st win, face short week

BY MITCH STACY
ASSOCIATED PRESS

CINCINNATI — Last week, the winless Cincinnati Bengals talked about how the offense needed to start faster, and the defense wanted to create more turnovers.

They made good on both accounts Sunday in a 27-12 road win over the New York Jets.

The Bengals won the coin toss and took the ball first instead of deferring as they usually would. Joe Burrow then directed a drive capped by a 12-yard touchdown pass to Samaje Perine, and Cincinnati would score on three of the next four possessions to take a 20-9 lead into halftime.

Meanwhile, the defense forced Jets quarterback Joe Flacco into four turnovers.

After losing their first two mistake-filled games by a combined six points, the Bengals needed to start getting things right. And, for the most part, they did. Play-calling was more diverse, and Burrow took downfield shots looking for explosive plays. After an early rough patch, Burrow again looked like the quarterback that took Cincinnati to the Super Bowl last season.

"We came out aggressive and it paid off for us," said Burrow, who was 23 for 36 for 275 yards and three touchdowns. Ja'Marr Chase and Tyler Boyd also caught TD passes.

"We just needed to get the first win," Cincinnati coach Zac Taylor said. "I didn't really care what it looked like. I really didn't care whether it was 3-0 or 49-3. We just need to rip that Band-Aid off, get that first win. We've been a confident team all along."

WHAT'S WORKING

The defense played well enough in the first two games, but players stressed winning the turnover battle. The Bengals recovered two fumbles. Defensive end Trey Hendrickson was credited with 2 ½ sacks. Linebacker Logan Wilson and safety Jessie Bates III had interceptions. The Jets' scoring was limited to four field goals.

"We treated it as this being the start of our season," defensive end Sam Hubbard said. "The 0-2 start was behind us. The start of our new season was today. That was our message coming into today."

WHAT NEEDS HELP

The offensive line kept Burrow from getting sacked more than twice, but couldn't break open the running game. Joe Mixon averaged just 2 yards per carry (12 for 24 yards) before giving way to Perine, who picked up 47 yards on nine carries.

STOCK UP

Boyd, who can be overshadowed by fellow receivers Chase and Tee Higgins, caught four of his five targets for 105 yards. Boyd turned in the most exciting play of the day when he grabbed a short pass from Burrow, bounced off two defenders and romped for a 56-yard touchdown late in the first quarter.

STOCK DOWN

Rookie left guard Cordell Volson's holding penalty nullified a 4-yard Burrow-to-Boyd TD pass in the first quarter. Volson, who won the job in training camp, is one of four new starters on the offensive line.

INJURIES

Mixon didn't play for much of the fourth quarter because of a sore ankle. ... DT D.J. Reader was lost for the game in the second quarter with a left knee injury. There were no details on their availability for Thursday night's game.

KEY NUMBER

50% — The Bengals' third-down efficiency against the Jets (7 for 14).

Andújar's bases-clearing double lifts Pirates over Reds

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

PITTSBURGH — Miguel Andújar hit a tiebreaking three-run double in the seventh inning, leading the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 4-1 win over the Cincinnati Reds on Tuesday night.

Andújar's hit snapped a 1-all tie and came in his second game with the Pirates. The designated hitter was claimed off waivers from the New York Yankees on Sunday.

The Pirates loaded the bases with one out on a single by Oneil Cruz and walks to Bryan Reynolds and Jack Suwinski by Buck Farmer (2-2). Andújar then hit a long drive off the top of the bullpen door in left-center field, clearing the bases.

It marked Andújar's first three-RBI game since Sept. 27, 2018, with the Yankees against the Tampa Bay Rays. He finished second in the American League Rookie of the Year balloting that season behind the Los Angeles Angels' Shohei Ohtani.

The Pirates won for the third time in four games since an eight-game losing streak. The Reds have lost five of six and 15 of 19, and still hold a two-game edge over Pittsburgh for fourth place in the five-team NL Central.

Cincinnati starter Hunter Greene allowed one unearned run in six innings while striking out 10. The rookie right-hander yielded four hits and three walks. Greene is 0-1 with a 1.06 ERA in three starts since missing six weeks with right shoulder inflammation.

The Reds got two hits each from Kyle Farmer and Mike Siani.

Pirates 8, Reds 3 (Monday) — Jack Suwinski hit a two-run double to key a four-run seventh inning, powering the Pittsburgh Pirates past the Cincinnati Reds 8-3 on Monday night.

Suwinski turned on a slider from Derek Law (2-1), sending it to right field. Fellow rookie Oneil Cruz, who opened the inning with his third of four straight singles, and Miguel Andújar scored to put Pittsburgh ahead 4-2.

Law hit Ke'Bryan Hayes with a pitch and walked Cal Mitchell before being replaced. Kevin Newman dropped an RBI single into right off Joel Kuhnel. Hayes scored on a sacrifice fly.

Rookies help keep Colts' season on track

BY MICHAEL MAROT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS — Matt Ryan relied on some familiar standbys to start Sunday's game-winning drive.

He finished it with some new names: wide receiver Alec Pierce and tight end Jelani Woods.

Ryan targeted the two unheralded rookies on the final three plays of the decisive drive, hooking up with Pierce for a 14-yard completion to reach the red zone and Woods for the 12-yard TD pass that gave Indianapolis a 20-17 victory over Kansas City.

The script seemed to be a surprise to just about everyone except Ryan.

"I have a lot of belief in those guys, I really think they're going to be good players in this league," he said. "They've shown it on the practice field, maybe not seen it as much in games to start this year, but I really think there's going to be a lot of improvement from them. And the one thing, you just don't know until you're in those situations is if guys have no flinch."

They sure didn't melt when the stakes were highest.

With Indy's season teetering and the Colts down four against a team vying to host a fifth straight AFC title game, it was Pierce and Woods, not Michael Pittman Jr. or Jonathan Taylor, who made the plays.

Coach Frank Reich and general manager Chris Ballard expected nothing less after selecting them in last spring's draft.

Still, through the first two games, Pierce — a second-rounder — was better known for dropping a TD pass in the Week 1 tie at Houston and sitting out Week 2 (concussion protocol). Woods, a third-round pick considered a gifted college blocker, didn't even have a pass thrown his direction in the first two weeks.

On Sunday when Ryan needed playmakers late, the rookies delivered.

Pierce used his body control and technical skills to catch three passes for 61 yards and Woods used his 6-foot-7, 253-pound body to fend off defenders for his first two career catches — a 1-yard TD reception to give Indy (1-1-1) its first lead of the season and the 12-yarder for the Colts' first win.

"That's the player we expect Jelani (Woods) to be, make the big play. He's a big man, and he's fast," Reich said before discussing Pierce. "The go-ball, that's what he's here for, and then he made the play down there on that last drive. That was a big throw and catch."

This week, Pierce and Woods provided the jolt of energy Indy desperately needed to rebound from an embarrassing shutout in Jacksonville. But the long-term implications of their ability to make plays could open things up for Pittman and Taylor — and get the Colts' offense on track.

WHAT'S WORKING

Run defense. Even during the lackluster games at Houston and Jacksonville, the Colts were solid against the run. They were even better against the Chiefs, who produced 58 yards on 23 carries for an average of 2.5 yards. Through three weeks, Indy is allowing 77.0 yards rushing per game.

WHAT NEEDS HELP

Offensive line. Despite giving Ryan enough time to produce his 43rd career comeback, the five-man line continues to struggle. Ryan was sacked five more times, lost two fumbles and again was under heavy duress.

STOCK UP

Kylen Granson. Though the two rookies shined late, the second-year tight end also played well. He recovered a muffed punt at the Chiefs 4, then barely kept his balance to pin Kansas City inside the 1 on Indy's next punt. He also had two catches and might be carving out his own niche.

STOCK DOWN

WR Parris Campbell. Indy needs the former Ohio State star to become a real playmaker this season. While he has shown some glimpses, he has not yet emerged as a major part of the game plan.

INJURIES

Starting safety Julian Blackmon missed the second half with a sprained left ankle and it's unclear whether he'll play next weekend against Tennessee. ... Indy also continues to await the season debut of three-time All-Pro linebacker Shaquille Leonard (back surgery).

Johnson to retire from full-time racing

BY JENNA FRYER
AP AUTO RACING WRITER

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — Seven-time NASCAR champion Jimmie Johnson is retiring from full-time racing and will turn his focus toward spending time with family.

He figures his future schedule will include no more than 10 bucket-list events, but the 47-year-old had no idea Monday what that will look like in 2023.

Johnson told The Associated Press he was excited to announce "I've got a blank sheet of paper, and we can now see what opportunities exist and start making a calendar." Carvana has already told Johnson it will back whatever racing he pursues.

Jimmie Johnson

Johnson took two weeks from the IndyCar finale — with a weekend spent in England with Ganassi teammates Scott Dixon and Dario Franchitti at the Goodwood Revival — before finalizing his decision to scale back. He told the AP he didn't really need the time to ponder his future.

"It's been an interesting process to feel so fulfilled with the experience and then also try to make a decision," Johnson said. "In the big scheme of things, there is so much life-planning going on with the kids. We've always had an idea of trying to live abroad for a year or two. We love Colorado and want to spend more time there, and there's just so much swirling personally and professionally that I just wanted to take some time and make the decision not on the back of a positive or negative experience on the racetrack."

So what is Johnson, who retired from NASCAR in 2020, thinking?

LE MANS

The 24 Hours of Le Mans would be part of the NASCAR and Hendrick Motorsports special "Garage 56" entry. Johnson has said from the start he wants to be part of the three-driver Le Mans lineup, even though its an exhibition for the Next Gen and the car will be alone in its class.

He'd been awaiting the 2023 IndyCar schedule to see if he'd even be available, but will ensure his schedule is clear should NASCAR want its future Hall of Famer to be part of the project.

INDYCAR

Johnson for sure won't return for a second full IndyCar season with Chip Ganassi Racing. He raced only the street and road courses in 2021, added the ovals to run the full 2022 season and now isn't even sure if he'll run IndyCar at all.

"We are fully supportive of Jimmie. He has been a valued member of our team and if we can find a way to continue working together, we would like to do so," said team owner Ganassi, who told AP he'd like to run four full-time cars. Now that Johnson has made up his mind not to drive a full season in the No. 48, Ganassi is figuring out how to keep that entry on track.

Johnson struggled on the street and road courses over two seasons, with his best performances on ovals — the discipline he dominated for nearly two decades in NASCAR. He finished an IndyCar-best fifth at Iowa, and although he ultimately crashed out of his Indianapolis 500 debut, Johnson turned laps at over 240 mph in a dazzling qualifying performance.

"I do have a desire to go back, it's just at this point, I know what's required to do a full schedule, and I don't have that in me," Johnson told AP. "I don't have that passion that I need for myself to commit myself to a full season."

BIG IDEA

Johnson has said since his 2020 NASCAR retirement that he'd race again in the series in the right opportunity, and is now entertaining the idea of doing "The Double" — the Indianapolis 500 and Coca-Cola 600 on the same day.

Kurt Busch was the last driver to attempt the 1,100-mile, two-state odyssey in 2014. Busch fell 200 miles shy of completing it when his engine failed in the NASCAR closer. Tony Stewart, who twice attempted both races, is the only driver to complete all 1,100 miles. John Andretti and Robby Gordon both made attempts before Busch.

Johnson would like to give it a try: He won the Coca-Cola 600 at Charlotte Motor Speedway four times, including three consecutive victories from 2003-2005.

"You know me and endurance sports, and the double sounds awesome," Johnson told AP. "I've always had this respect for the guys who have done the double. I would say it is more of a respect thing than a bucket-list item, and I'd love to put some energy into that idea and see if I can pull it off."

The other NASCAR events that's have caught his attention? Next year's inaugural race through the downtown streets of Chicago and the All-Star race at North Wilkesboro. Johnson noted as a past winner, he's got an exemption into both the All-Star race and the exhibition season-opening Clash at Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum. However, the 2022 NASCAR rules state a driver must be competing full-time to race in the all-star race.

WHAT ELSE?

The future in sports car racing is an unknown for Johnson after this weekend's IMSA season-ending Petit Le Mans. He's spent the last two seasons running the endurance races in a joint entry with Hendrick and Action Express, but does not expect enough inventory next year when IMSA adopts new cars for Johnson's project to continue.

He told AP he would consider racing in a lower IMSA category, such as LMP2, and is even curious about the six-race World Endurance Championship. But the WEC Series intrigues him because of its exotic locales — Monza, Italy, Fuji Speedway in Japan, Bahrain — and the love of international travel he shares with his wife and two young daughters.

He and Chani Johnson have explored enrolling their girls in school in either England or France for a year for the experience, and as a hands-on father, Johnson takes an active role in shuttling his daughters to and from their full schedule of sports and activities. Chani Johnson is also a successful owner of an art gallery and is looking to expand her businesses.

"Chani has always supported me to the nth degree and also at the same time had her objectives, desires and pursued her pathway and her career. I think she's optimistically cautious I follow through with this plan," Johnson told AP.
